HISTORY WRITING CONTEST

In 2002, an anonymous alumnus endowed a fund to establish an annual History Writing Contest at WRA to encourage high quality research and writing. Students, of any grade, may submit papers written for courses here at Reserve that examine an historical topic and which are approximately 8-15 pages in length. Each year the school awards prizes in two divisions: World History and American History, and within each category, three winning papers are selected. Those papers are bound and presented to the Ong Library, and the first place papers in each category are published in the subsequent year's issue of Viewpoints.

RENSSELAER MEDAL AWARD
